Report of the Selectmen.

We are fortunate in being able to report an unexpended balance in most of the appropriations. A larger part than usual of the appropriation for highways has been expended in hardening and grading some of the principal roads. A more liberal expenditure of money in this direction would undoubtedly be good economy for the town. The recent storms have made it necessary to expend an unusually large amount in breaking out roads.

We have replanked seven of the principal bridges in town, some of them requiring nearly all new timber. The iron bridges at Three Rivers and Thorndike had become unsafe, being badly out of line. They have been drawn to place and strengthened with iron trusses at a comparatively small expense.

The bridges in town are in good condition and will require but a small outlay the coming season.

At the last annual meeting we were instructed by the town to take measures to secure the abolition of the grade crossings on the Ware River Railroad near Burleigh's, and the New London Northern Railroad on the Three Rivers road. Accordingly in the last-named case a petition for the appointment of a commission was presented to the court, and an understanding was finally reached with the railroad officials that the change should be made by turning the highway under the track of the railroad a short distance southeasterly of the present crossing, the location being such that this change will involve but a moderate expense, and will result in a material improvement in the present grade of the highway. Before the plans had been fully agreed upon however the season had so far advanced that it was thought best to postpone further action until spring, but as soon as the weather becomes suitable it is understood that the work shall be commenced and carried to completion without unnecessary delay. The dangerous character of the two crossings on the Ware River Railroad is well known, and the need of prompt efforts to secure their abolition is fully recognized by us. Just what should be done for the interests of all parties cannot easily be determined and the situation is such that it is desirable that the railroad company should coöperate with the town in devising such changes as will secure the greatest safety to the traveling public and at the same time keep the outlay within a reasonable limit. The officers of the company expressed a willingness to aid us in bringing about the desired changes, but asked for a delay until more of the grade crossings upon their main line had been disposed of, and in view of the great expense already incurred by the town in these last named crossings we deemed it for the interest of the town to delay action a short time.

REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1893.

Number of volumes in Library, March 1, 1892, . . . . .	4,234
Number of volumes Donated to the Library during the year, . . . . .	31
<hr/>
Total, . . . . .	4,265
Number of volumes loaned to readers in fiction, . . . . .	5,306
Number of volumes loaned to readers in history, travels, etc., . . . . .	2,037
Total, . . . . .	7,343

In this age of advancement, the Free Library has become a prime necessity. Questions arise every day in the school room, the office or the home which claim an answer, many of which can only be solved by the accumulated stores of wisdom found in the well-selected volumes of a library free to all. But knowledge is progressive. science is achieving new triumphs every year, so by consequence the leaders of thought of a few decades ago are pushed into the background, to give place to the searchers of to-day, and they who would keep abreast of the times must needs take up the new facts as presented or be left in the rear. A free library affords to all an equal opportunity of gaining the benefits of researches, which are the results of the most careful study by the foremost thinkers of the age; a benefit which we owe to ourselves and to the rising generation, especially when it can be gained by an outlay so very small to each taxpayer of the town. Many of the patrons of the library are young people, or those who do not feel able to purchase the many new and desirable books which are constantly appearing, and they ought to find a portion of the best new literature on our library shelves that their desire for knowledge may be met and that their interest in the library may be kept up. All the towns about us are most liberal in the support which they extend to their libraries; let it not be said that Palmer is backward in this respect.

For lack of funds the trustees have not been able to buy books, save in the matter of magazines, during the past year. The accessions have been in the shape of donations from various sources.

There is a great necessity for a reasonably increased annual appropriation for the purchase of new books, or to replace standard volumes which continually wear out.

As it now is, the expense of lighting, heating, care of building and grounds, the library attendant, and the rebinding of books all come out of the annual appropriation of $500, which leaves little or nothing for buying needed books. Let it be remembered that the officers charge nothing for their services, and that the books, etc., are furnished at wholesale prices.

Let the thoughtful consider the needs of the library and act accordingly.

Report of School Committee.

The School Committee would present the following report of the schools of the town during the past year :—

It is believed that there has been a gradual improvement in several directions.

The school registers, in many of the schools, show a better attendance and fewer cases of tardiness. Some teachers have a tact of making the schoolroom a happy place for their pupils. In these schools the attendance is more regular and the pupils are ashamed to enter the schoolroom tardy.

There have been fewer changes among the teachers than in some previous years.

It will be wise policy for the town to pay their teachers such salaries as to be able to retain the best ones.

It is truly said in the Springfield school report that the efficiency of the schools depends more upon the teachers than upon resolutions of school committees or edicts of superintendents.

The general deportment of the pupils in our schools has improved, better care is being taken of the school furniture, and most of the schoolrooms are kept in a more cleanly condition than formerly.

Habits of neatness and propriety of conduct are quite as valuable as a knowledge of arithmetic and geography.

The Course of Study adopted by the Committee is having good results toward uniformity of school work. Some of the schools may not, at once, be able to do the work of the grade, but in time we trust they will accomplish it.

Quite an amount of new reading matter has been furnished to the schools, and a change of writing books has been adopted by the Committee.

A professional teacher in writing has visited a number of the schools, and has given some valuable hints in penmanship to the teachers and pupils.

Some of the primary schools are pressed for room to accommodate the pupils. In the Bondsville Primary school the half-day system has been tried with good results.

No grade of our schools should have more consideration than the Primary grade, for it is here that the pupils will learn either to love or dislike school life.

The Intermediate schools are well filled. These schools are also important, as many of the pupils leave this grade and go to work in mills and other places.

The Grammar schools are not so crowded as some of the lower grades. As this grade furnishes the material for the High school, quite an amount of work is necessary to be done to prepare the pupils for promotion.

In the examination, in June, of pupils to enter the High school, there was a marked improvement in the language work over the previous year.

As the High school increases in numbers it may be best to raise the standard for admission to that school. By most of the pupils another year in the Grammar schools could be profitably spent. Some additional studies, as bookkeeping and algebra, might be added to the course.

The High school has fully maintained its high standard. More attention has been given to English literature. This, we think, is a step in advance.

We judge a tree by its fruits. We may judge the work of a teacher by the inspiration given to the pupils after leaving school to seek higher attainments in culture. When we see so large a number of the graduates planning for an advanced course of study, we are confident that something besides "cramming," which produces mental indigestion, is done in the school. It is doubtful whether there are many towns of the size of Palmer that have more students in the higher institutions of learning.

In June a large attendance of parents and friends of the graduating class met in Holden's Opera House to listen to the exercises prepared by the graduates for the occasion.

At the close the following members of the class received from the School Committee certificates of graduation:—

Beatrice R. Andrews,	Blanche Hastings,
Annie B. Fish,	Lelah Sharp,
Ruth Willis,	Annie Bishop,
Bridget M. Dowd,	Philip C. Story,
Maude Murdock.	William M. Roach.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

During the summer vacation the schoolrooms in the several buildings were thoroughly cleaned, the ceilings and walls renovated, and the blackboards put in good repair.

The outside of the school buildings in Three Rivers, Wire Mill, Forest Lake and Mason districts are greatly in need of being painted.

The heating arrangement in Thorndike will need attention before another winter, and the heating apparatus in Three Rivers has not given the best of satisfaction during the past season.

The cold winter has drawn heavily upon the appropriation for fuel.

As there were but four pupils who would probably attend school in the Shaw district, arrangements were made in September to send three of them, belonging to one family, to a school in Ware, and the other to a school in West Warren.

A Teachers' Institute, under the direction of Hon. J. W. Dickinson, Secretary of the State Board of Education, was held in the High school building Sept. 28, 1892. Interesting and instructive exercises were given by State Agents Edson, Bailey and others. There was a good attendance of the teachers and a general expression of satisfaction that the Institute had been a profitable one.

The schools of the town observed Columbus Day, Oct. 21, with exercises appropriate for the occasion.

The Committee has furnished a room in the High school building in which to hold its meetings. A fire-proof safe has been purchased to preserve school records and valuable papers. A large book case has also been made for holding school books and other materials used in the schools.

The cost of school books is quite an item in the town expenses.

While the Committee desires to be liberal in ordering suitable books for the schools, still they would impress upon the teachers the importance of keeping a careful inventory of the books in their several classrooms, and of guarding against the misuse of them by the pupils.

The Committee does not intend to ask for a larger appropriation than is necessary to carry on the schools with success.

At the beginning of the year, the appropriation asked for being cut down, and some bills presented that were incurred during the previous year, the Committee has been obliged to leave undone some things which ought to have been done.

We hear it said that the town of Palmer pays more for schools in proportion to the school population than any other town in the state. If any one will take pains to examine the school reports of the towns around us, and compare the grade of schools and the number of children in the towns, the difference in the amount raised for school purposes will not be so great as has been supposed.

The schools of the town deserve our best thought and should receive a most liberal appropriation.

Some one has said, "What we would have the future of our nation to be, we must put into the schools of to-day."

While there is much to be done to raise all our schools to the highest standard, still we believe that any disinterested person will find some good work done in the schools of Palmer.
